October 29

Karen Aardal, Utrecht University, visiting Rice University

Integer programming and basis reduction

We show how lattice basis reduction can be used when solving integer feasibility problems. In particular, we discuss three applications: a conflict detection problem, a market split problem, and the Frobenius problem.